INTRODUCTION

BRA FITTING SERVICE

THE WHAT AND WHY

Nike's Bra Fitting Service helps her find the perfect bra for her. Bodies change, so it's important to measure every time. Use personalized service and the available tools in your store to capture her measurements and ensure the right support and perfect fit.

There are 5 key phases of the Bra Fitting Service experience:

1. Invite
2. Educate and Recommend
3. Determine the Fit
4. Try On
5. Recap and Invite

Review Sports Bra 101 on the next page before moving into the 5 phases of the Bra Service Journey.

Let's get started!

WARM UP

Think about a time when you were shopping and the sales associate ensured you got the right fit.

Share your experience and how it influenced your decision to purchase.

SPORTS BRA 101

EVERY WOMAN NEEDS A SPORTS BRA

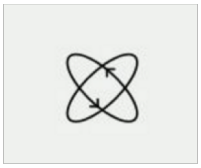

Nike sports bras are specifically designed to support breasts in motion. Why? Because too much motion can cause damage and discomfort, which is the last thing she needs during a workout or a big game.

NO BRA. NO SPORT.

The bra is her most essential item to do sport*. No matter how she chooses to move her body, she needs a sports bra to give her the right support.

sport/movement as she defines it, because "sport" can mean something different to each of us.*

DID YOU KNOW?

GRAVITY DOESN'T LIKE HER

Nothing personal, it's science. No matter her chest size, gravity can cause tissue damage while she moves. Sports bras protect her from this.

THE BIGGEST FIT MISTAKE

Most women wear a band too big and cup too small. Measuring her is key to getting her size just right.

EVERYDAY BRA VS. SPORTS BRA

Sports bras are designed to take on more impact – this is why the band should fit slightly firmer than her everyday bra.

PHYSICS AFFECTS EVERYONE

Motion causes breasts to move in a figure eight, and cupped designs can provide higher support for bigger breasts. Goodbye, bounce.

INVITE

When inviting her to get fitted for a bra, get to know her and make her feel comfortable! A successful bra fit starts with building a relationship.

Let her know that you will use her activities, preferences and size to recommend options to try and then help her check the fit.

GET TO KNOW HER

Find out what she's looking for, what her current bra experience is like and any problems or concerns she would like to fix. Start and end your conversation with her.

ASK HER WHAT ACTIVITIES SHE LIKES TO DO

Use this information throughout the conversation.

Ask her what bras she normally wears for her activities and any concerns she's had in the past. This is a great way to get to know any challenges she has, which can help you recommend a bra for her specific needs.

Let her know the importance of wearing the right bra for her sport.

ASK WHAT HER PREFERENCES ARE

Does she prefer padding or no padding? Does she prefer clasps or overhead entry? Does she prefer adjustable straps?

What specific styles, colors or prints is she attracted to?

TIP!

As you are getting to know her and her needs, discover her style preferences so you can make a more personal recommendation!

DRILL

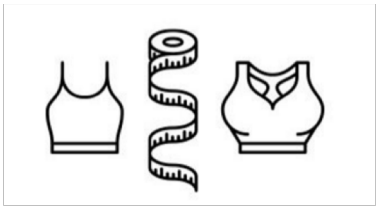

Role-play inviting her to get fitted for a bra and discuss the question below with your training partner.

How did the questions you asked help encourage her to get fitted?

EDUCATE AND RECOMMEND

Knowing how impact creates bounce helps you find the best sports bra for her.

HER SIZE

The number one factor to finding the right level of support is figuring out her size. If she hasn't measured in a while, it's good to double check as size can vary throughout the year.

HER SPORT

From yoga to running, soccer to cheer, sports bras are designed for her body in motion and every activity creates a different level of impact on her chest. With the right support and fit, she's free to move without distractions.

1. IMPACT MEANS BOUNCE

Impact is the amount of bounce an activity puts on her chest.

2. BOUNCE DETERMINES SUPPORT

Light-impact, medium-impact and high-impact activities create different amounts of bounce. So, the support she needs depends on her size and the impact level of her sport.

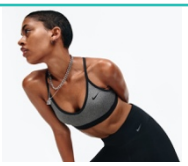

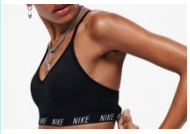

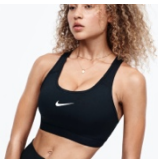

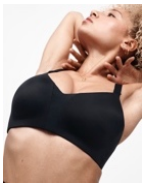

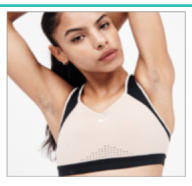

Nike sports bras come in three support levels based on the impact level of the sport/activity: Light, Medium, High.

- If she has a D cup size or above, high support bras are recommended regardless of activity.

DETERMINE THE FIT

The Nike Bra Fit Tool on the Athlete Device helps you determine which size she should try.

1. Choose your Country and Location.
2. Choose the impact level of her primary sport – low, medium or high – based on your conversation so far.
3. Ask if she would like to get measured in the fitting room to obtain an accurate size recommendation. Explain the importance of getting updated measurements as her body may have changed since her last fitting.

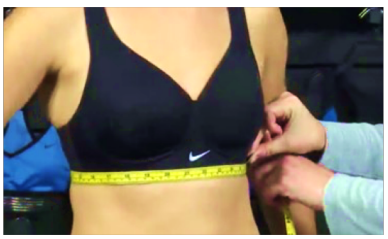

IF SHE WOULD LIKE TO GET MEASURED:

The Nike Bra Fit Tool converts rib and cup measurements (inches or centimeters) to Nike sports bra sizes. If she's wearing a heavily padded or compression bra, offer her a choice of any current Nike sports bra for fitting.

4. Choose your local sizing system to ensure accuracy of results.

MEASURE

- Let her know that you will be taking two measurements, one around her ribs and one on her cup. Communication throughout the process is important!

5. Measure the rib.

- Ask her to lift both arms up and explain that you will come around her with the measuring tape as if you are going to hug.
- Thread the tape under her arms and measure directly under the breasts. Once you have the tape parallel to the floor, let her know that she can put her arms down and relax.
- Take her rib measurement and enter it in the fit tool.

6. Measure the cup.

- Have her hold the end of the tape between her breasts, where the breast tissue and bone meet.
- Bring the measurement tape across the nipple to where the breast ends at the underarm.
- Read the measurement from the side of the body and enter it into the tool. Do not measure to the bra. If it is difficult to find the end of the tissue, ask her to move her arm slightly back to better define the breast tissue.

SKILLS AND DRILLS

7. Use the Size and Support Level from the Nike Bra Fit Tool to determine which size and style bras to try.

If multiple sizes are suggested, it means other women with similar measurements have preferred both sizes. Encourage her to try both to determine the best fit based on her preference.

IF SHE PREFERS NOT TO GET MEASURED:

Ask her what size regular bra she is currently wearing. Use the Nike Bra Fit Tool to convert her standard bra size into a Nike sports bra size.

SKILLS AND DRILLS

TRY ON

- After her size has been determined, guide her fitting room journey by ensuring bras in her size and preferred styles are available for try on.
- To ensure she's in the right bra for both her size and support needs, have her try on the bra and check her fit using three simple steps:

BAND SIZE	STRAP	CUP

Check band tightness by putting one finger between the wearer and the bra. The bra should feel firmer than her everyday bra.	Ask her if the strap length is comfortable and adjust the straps accordingly (if available).	The breasts should fill the cup completely without spillage or gapes at the neckline or underarm. Ask her to bend forward and/or raise her arms over her head – cups should move with the body.

BRA FIT

IMPORTANT!

Remember to capture her purchase decision and chosen size using the Nike Bra Fit Tool and tap Done. This helps Nike improve recommendations for future consumers.

DRILL

Role-play with your training partner. Help her find her size and support level, utilizing the steps on pages 9-11. After her size has been determined, select a bra and check the fit using the steps above. Discuss the questions below.
What was easy about finding her size? What was more challenging?

RECAP AND INVITE

COMPLETE THE LOOK

- Once a bra style is chosen, offer additional colors and prints if available.
- Recommend tights that pair with her bra.
- Guide her to the best footwear for her needs.
- Show the latest seasonal product to help her transition to/from her sport.

OFFER MEMBERSHIP

- Ask if she is a NikePlus member and, if not, invite her to join.
- Share benefits of membership she may be interested in (NTC app, NRC app, SNKRS (US)/SNEAKRS (EU) app, local events, exclusive access to products).
- Link her purchase to her profile.
- Let her know that her sizes and purchase details will be logged for future reference and style recommendations.

BUY IT. TRY IT.

- Reiterate the 30-day free return policy*: She can test any bra, with any workout. If she's not happy, she can return or exchange it (sweat and all) free of charge.

  Global membership benefit. If necessary, adapt for your local return policy.*

DRILL

Role-play with your training partner. Summarize and validate the bras she liked and ensure she has the right bras for all her sports or activities. Discuss the questions below.
How does the Bra Fitting Service validate her bra choice?
How confident do you feel providing the Bra Fitting Service to a consumer?
In which areas do you feel you need more support and/or practice?
